Dear Ghassan,
It's something we don't often do ... but after reading and discussing your poetry which is scheduled for publication - even before all of the final prior winners are announced - the Editors at the National Library of Poetry have placed your name in nomination for membership in the largest and most exciting poetry organization in the world - The International Society of Poets ...
After reading your poetry, our membership board whole-heartedly agrees, and has awarded you Pro Associate Membership in our society. You will join us as a Distinguished Member.
Ghassan, we want to begin recognizing your poetry, promoting your talent around the world and appropriately awarding you and your work as well!
... And your Society will look to you for your unique perspective as expressed through your poetry... not only your good technique and use of language, but also (your) unique style, special depth of feeling and sincerity."

Dear Ghassan,
Over the past year or so we have been reviewing the thousands of poems submitted to us, as well as examining the poetic accomplishments of people whose poetry has been featured in various anthologies released by other poetry publishers. After an exhaustive examination of this poetic artistry, The International Library of Poetry has nominated Ghassan Sayegh for inclusion in what promises to be the most historically important collection of poetry we have ever published ...
Congratulations on your accomplishment, Ghassan. Only a small percentage of individuals whose poetry we have examined were selected to be part of this distinguished group of Outstanding Poets ... It is our pleasure to publish five poems each in years in this historic volume ...
... We believe that your poetic artistry would add considerably to a better future insight and understanding of what our lives are like today ...
Before going any further, Ghassan, let me make one thing clear ... you were selected for publication on the basis of your unique talent and vision ... which sparks the imagination and presents the reader with a fresh unique perspective on life.

WE BELIEVE YOU TO BE ONE OF THE MOST INTERESTING POETS WE HAVE ENCOUNTERED...!"
